Papal Curiosities

Which Roman church displays relics of the cross?

One of the relics that draws worshipers is a nail allegedly used to crucify Christ and is to be found in a circular, glass-enclosed silver casket in Rome's Santa Croce in Gerusalemme Church. It is about five inches long and tapers in its last quarter-inch to a blunt tip. There is some evidence to support its authenticity but no positive proof. Several other relics are housed in the same church: three wooden splinters from the cross; a fragment of the tobacco-colored, worm-eaten nameplate placed on top of the cross on Pilate's orders with the Latin inscription NAZARENUS IUDAEORUM, and two thorns from the crown placed on the head of Jesus.

What does the name "Jesus" mean?

The meaning of the name "Jesus" is derived from both the Aramaic and Hebrew languages. In Aramaic, Jesus is "Yeshua"; in Hebrew, Jesus is "Joshua". The three words-Jesus, Yeshua, and Joshua-mean savior.

Was Napoleon crowned emperor by the pope?

Pope Pius VII (1800-1823) went to Paris to crown Napoleon emperor in 1804, but when he got there, he discovered that Napoleon had not yet married Josephine empress, the pope insisted on a sacramental wedding, which aggravated Napoleon no end. Subtly, Bonaparte got his little revenge, however, by presenting Pius with a triple tiara. One of the gems encrusted in the tiara, a large emerald, had been forcibly extracted from Pius's Predecessor (Pope Pius VI) in a military-political maneuver by the French on their march into Italy.

How is the Vatican tailor able to dress the pope so quickly?

As soon as anew pope is elected by the college of Cardinals, he is dressed in robes that fit him on a temporary basis. Since the Vatican tailor does not know the size of the man who will be elected, he makes vestments in three or four sizes-so that when the new pope makes his initial appearance to the masses gathered in St. Peter's Square, he is wearing papal robes that have been hastily fitted to his size and held together only with safety pins, which are not visible.
